Petrol bomb thrown into house as family slept

A PETROL bomb was thrown into a house as a family slept inside in an arson attack in Skelmersdale.

Police were called at around 1am on Saturday, July 10, following reports a petrol bomb had been thrown through the window of a property in Crossfield Road.

None of the occupants were injured, although there was some smoke damage caused to the property.

No arrests have been made at this stage and enquiries are ongoing.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses and anybody with CCTV or dashcam footage to come forward.

DS Di Higham, of West Lancashire CID, said: "This is an extremely serious incident which could have resulted in people being seriously injured or killed."

"We are treating this incident as arson and have a team of detectives working to identify those responsible."

"Although we cannot release any suspect descriptions at this time we would ask anybody who saw anyone acting suspiciously in the area around the time of the arson attack to get in touch with police."

"Similarly, we would ask people to check their CCTV and dashcam footage to see if they have captured anything which could assist our enquiries."

Anyone with information is asked to email 64@lancashire.police.uk or call 101, quoting log 0095 of July 10, 2021.

STUDENTS FLATS PLAN FOR CLOSED ICELAND STORE

Proposals to convert upper floors into accommodation with small retail units below

Report by Henry James

PROPOSALS have been submitted to change the former Iceland store in Ormskirk town centre into student accommodation with small retail spaces on part of the ground floor.

The application, which has been submitted by Vici Property Ltd, would see 23 bedrooms created at the building at 6 Aughton Street.

If plans get the go-ahead it would see part of the rear section of the ground floor, first floor and second floor from the closed shop turned into 23 student accommodation bedrooms.

The units would comprise of three studio bedrooms, a one bed flat, two three-bed flats and three four-bed flats with communal kitchens.

The existing shop floor at ground level would be split into two shop/commercial units and the shop-fronts would be remodelled.

A statement on behalf of the applicant Vici Property Ltd states: "The applicant has over 20 years experience in managing student accommodation within the local area."

The front of the former Iceland store as it currently looks.

"They have an excellent relationship with Edge Hill University and tenants are aware of the high standards expected."

"There is a 24hour dedicated phone line to deal with any issues or emergencies and any tenancies not adhered to will result in disciplinary action."

The statement adds: "The scale and architecture is appropriate for the location and the layout of the accommodation, together with the associated facilities provided, will create a positive and welcoming living experience environment."

Edge Hill University has a total of 13,835 students according to 2018-19 figures.

Plans to build 60 homes move forward

Report by Henry James

PROPOSALS to create 60 new affordable homes along with allotments and a new community building in Skelmersdale look set to move forward.

The scheme, on two acres of land off Barnes Road, is led by residential developer Mulbury on behalf of housing provider Jigsaw Homes Group.

Planning consent has been granted for up to 60 homes on the site, while a grant funding application has been submitted to Homes England to help fund the new affordable homes.

The two-storey homes, which will be available for affordable rent, will be built alongside a new community building and a small car park, as well as a public open space and 12 allotments. The building will provide a modern, energy-efficient space for use by local groups.

The two, three and four-bedroom homes will benefit from private front and rear gardens and off-road parking. Existing trees on the site will be retained, while new landscaping has been proposed along with further tree planting.

Greg Mulligan, director of Mulbury, said: "This site is in a great location for new affordable homes, lying just a short distance from the town centre."

"We are working hard to ensure that the scheme quickly becomes a part of the local community, with public space, landscaping and community facilities very much key to this development."

"The site was once used as local playing fields but has been unused and fenced off from public access for a number of years, so it will be great to see it brought back into use under these plans."

The Skelmersdale development is the fifth scheme which Mulbury has worked on with Jigsaw which has more than 34,000 properties across the North West and East Midlands.

Motorcyclist in his 70s seriously injured collision

A ROAD collision in Lathom has left a motorcyclist seriously injured.

Police were called around 2.40pm on Saturday, July 17 to a report of an accident at the junction of Hall Lane and Spa Lane.

A Range Rover Evoque car had been involved in a collision with a man riding a Kawasaki motorbike.

The rider, a man in his 70s, from Ormskirk, suffered a serious injury to his right knee. He was taken by Air Ambulance to Aintree Hospital for treatment.

The driver of the Range Rover, a woman in her 20s from Wigan, was not injured.

The road was closed for four hours while accident investigators attended the scene.

Police are appealing for witnesses and dashboard mounted camera footage following the incident.

Sgt Michael Belfield, of Lancashire Police's Tactical Operations, said: "We are appealing for information following a serious injury collision in Lathom."

"A man has suffered a serious knee injury and we want to establish the exact circumstances."

"Any witnesses, or anyone with dashboard mounted camera footage of the incident, can call police on 101 quoting log 1006 of July 17."

Brian Cox hails vision for town as he opens new school of science

'This could become one of best places in world for learning engineering'

Report by Henry James

PROFESSOR Brian Cox has officially opened the new School of Science at West Lancashire College hailing it as "an important step towards realising Skelmersdale's vision of becoming the best place in Britain for science and engineering."

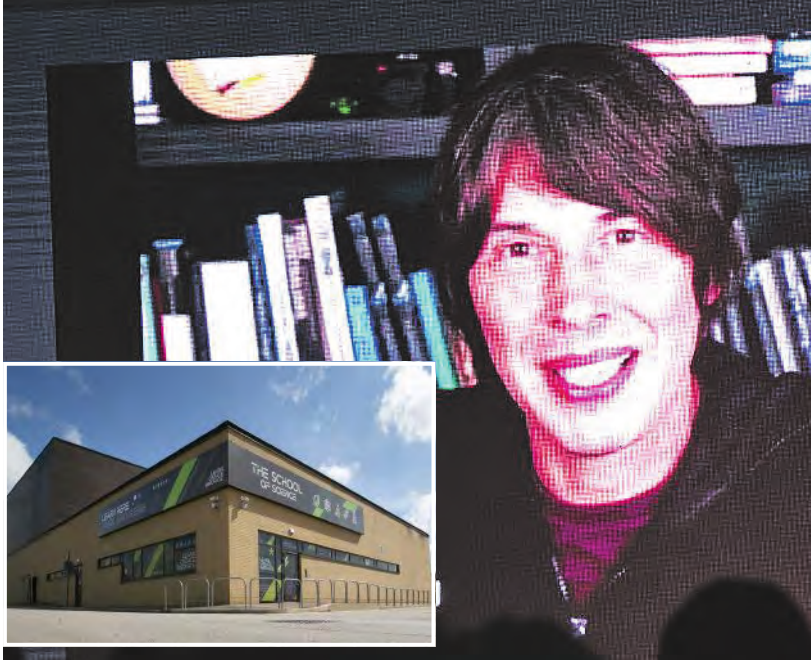

Funded by the Lancashire Enterprise Partnership's Growth Deal Programme, the £1.3m hi-tech centre aims to unlock potential and give people the ability to drive forward growth for the area.

Located within the main campus, the centre houses a large, hi-spec, fully equipped laboratory, preparation room, engineering suite plus an external teaching space.

The centre will support the delivery of engineering, the school of medicine programme, access to medical science and applied science programmes, and offers students access to the very "best specialist equipment and technology."

Professor Cox, well known for his popular television series such as Wonders of the Universe opened the centre as part of the Skelmersdale Science Summer School event, a national initiative he co-founded with Lord Andrew Mawson.

It aims to inspire young people to pursue careers in STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, the Arts and Mathematics) and become the next generation of Britain's scientists and engineers.

Professor Brian Cox opened the school, inset, in a virtual appearance.

The event brought together school pupils and students from across West Lancashire, who attended inspirational talks, including keynote presentations with Professor Cox, Lord Robert Winston and other high-profile guest speakers.

They also took part in a range of science and engineering activities aimed at exciting their interest in careers available to them.

Professor Cox said: "I am delighted to open the new School of Science at West Lancashire College in today's virtual ceremony.

"This is an important step towards realising Skelmersdale's vision of becoming the best place in Britain for science and engineering."

The day culminated in a virtual evening reception, where employers from across the globe came together online to hear Professor Cox and other special guests including astronaut Tim Peake, speak about how to help create a lasting legacy of excellence in STEAM, to inspire future generations and to "put Skelmersdale on the map to be the best place for science and engineering in the world."

The bridge between Mill Lane and Victoria Street

Woman robbed at knifepoint on bridge

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a woman was robbed at knifepoint in Burscough.

The incident took place on Liverpool Road North, on the bridge between Mill Lane and Victoria Street at 11.45am on Monday (July 12).

A woman was walking across the bridge when she was approached by a man wearing a white motorcycle helmet and a light grey top.

He was carrying a knife and demanded her shopping bag.

The victim handed it over and a second person, riding a motorcycle, pulled up on the bridge, with the first offender jumping on the back of the motorbike.

The pair then made off and turned left down Mill Lane.

Police are appealing for information, in particular anyone who saw the offenders described.

Det Sgt Liz Martin, of Ormskirk Police, said: "We would like to reassure the public that this was an isolated incident and are appealing to any witnesses who saw what happened to help us with finding the offenders."

Anyone with information can contact police on 01695 566112 or 101 quoting log 0839 of July 12.

Bar design plan for former clothes shop set to be refused by council

A PLANNING application to carry out façade work to 3 and 3A Moor Street, Ormskirk as part of wider plans to convert the former Dorothy Perkins shop into a licensed premises have been recommended for refusal by council officers.

The proposals for the façade work will be heard at the West Lancashire Planning Committee on Thursday, July 22.

This application was to be determined under the council's delegation scheme, however, Councillor Dowling has requested it be referred to Committee to consider the impact of the development on the town centre, local amenity, character of the town and the character of the Conservation Area.

The proposal would see the removal the existing shopfront glazing and double doors which would be replaced with glazed bi-fold doors across the full width of the unit at ground floor level.

Officers stated that the planned changes would be harmful to the visual amenity and character of the conservation area and would result in unacceptable noise disturbance to neighbouring residential properties."

Earlier this year, simultaneous licensing and planning applications were submitted for the Moor Street site with a view to a new bar opening, with plans submitted detailing the layout across two floors. The new bar would be called Townhouse.

Cllr Dowling has called in all the applications. One of the applications for a change of use from retail to drinking establishment is still pending consideration.

Following consultation with licensing officers, any potential opening times were set in line with other town centre bars. However, the licence holds no weight unless planning permission is granted, which hasn't been as yet.

Joseph Clayton at Clayton Architecture Limited, who are the architects behind the application being decided on July 22 commented that it was disappointing and "a very close minded approach" given that they have recently received approval for a "very similar proposal on a Grade II* Listed Building in Penrith."

Lorry damaged in arson attack at haulage firm

Report by Henry James

A LORRY was damaged when a petrol bomb was thrown at the vehicle in an arson attack at a haulage company in Skelmersdale.

Officers were called to Messenger Express Ltd, West Pimbo, to reports a truck had been found with smoke damage.

Detectives have released CCTV footage of a suspect throwing a petrol bomb at vehicles parked in the haulage yard at around 10.45pm on July 4.

They are now appealing for anybody with information or anybody who saw anyone acting suspiciously in or around the area at that time to get in touch.

No arrests have been made at this stage and enquiries are ongoing.

DS Diane Higham, of West Lancs CID, said: "This was a reckless attack which could have easily had far more serious consequences and resulted in hundreds of thousands of pounds of damage."

"We have made a number of enquiries to identify those responsible and we are now asking for the public to come forward if they have any information which could assist our investigation."

"Did you see somebody of a similar build, wearing similar clothing to that in the CCTV before or after the attack? Do you have CCTV or dashcam footage of suspicious individuals or vehicles in the area? If so, I would ask that you get in contact with police."

Anyone with information is asked to email 64@lancashire.police.uk or call 101, quoting log 0217 of July 5, 2021.

Four jailed over terror robbery at farm which left victim with gunshot wounds

Report by Henry James

FOUR men have been jailed following a robbery in Aughton which left a man with serious gunshot wounds to his knee and ankle.

Alan Daniels, 38, of Oaklee Grove, Liverpool, Anthony Hill, 40 of Oakdale Close, Liverpool, Dean Sanders, 32, of St Andrews Court, North Shields and Craig Reynolds, 36, of Birchmuir Hey, Liverpool, were sentenced at Preston Crown Court on Monday, July 19.

Police were called around 9.40pm on July 28, 2019, to a report a man had been injured during a robbery at a farm on Back Lane.

Officers, including armed police, attended the address and found the man, 65, with serious gunshot wounds to his ankle and knee.

Five shotguns, jewellery, watches, and cash were stolen from inside the property before the offenders made off from the scene.

Following enquiries detectives established the victim had been asleep in a static caravan in the rear garden of the property when he was woken by a noise outside.

He got up and walked to the patio doors where he saw a number of men wearing masks, hoodies and carrying shotguns.

One of the men saw the victim and discharged a gun through the patio door, with pellets hitting a television inside the caravan.

The man went outside where the group started to poke him with the weapons, demanding money. The man offered to give them some cash from inside the address, but as he reached the property, he was shot in the knee.

The victim's partner, who was inside the address, went to help but the group told her to get out of the way.

Once inside the men took cash and watches, then enquired whether the victim had any guns.

When he hesitated to answer, he was shot at close range in the ankle by one of the defendants who demanded, "Answer quicker." One of the defendants also slammed the rifle of his gun into the victim's mouth and groin area.

The men made more demands for the keys to the owner's gun cabinet, hitting the victim in the face again. Three of the men went upstairs and stole shotguns belonging to the victim, while a fourth man stole the victim's gold bracelet, having removed it using a letter opener.

As the men came downstairs, the 65-year-old man faked a heart attack, forcing the attackers to leave. As the men left the property, they warned that if either of the couple called the police within an hour they would return and kill him. The victim was taken to hospital with devastating and life-changing injuries to his ankle. He is still suffering serious complications as a result of these significant injuries.

During the robbery, four shotguns, a poacher's gun, a quantity of cash, a Raymond Veil watch worth about £500, a silver cuff bracelet worth about £160, a platinum diamond ring worth £5,000, car keys and a yellow gold bracelet worth £3,000 were stolen.

Several items were seized by Crime Scene Investigators including the letter opener. Forensic analysis of the letter opener identified a partial DNA profile which did not belong to the victim. This profile was checked on the national database, matching Daniels.

Daniels was arrested in October 2019 and charged.

Further enquiries found bank cards and PIN numbers had been taken in the raid. Withdrawals were made from the cards at three locations in Liverpool.

Detectives conducted enquiries in the locality of these transactions including CCTV and ANPR (Automatic Number Plate Recognition) and linked a blue Audi to the withdrawals, belonging to Anthony Hill.

Following extensive telephone and CCTV enquiries, the investigation team linked Daniels, Hill, Reynolds, and Sanders to cash withdrawals and identified regular contact between them at key times surrounding the offence.

Telephone records from Hill, Sanders, and Reynolds, along with ANPR linked to Hill's vehicle, also suggested the trio had conducted reconnaissance around the place of offence on Saturday, July 27, 2019 and again shortly before the offence.

Daniels pleaded guilty, with the remaining men pleading not guilty and going to trial.

All were found guilty of conspiracy to commit robbery and having a firearm with intent to commit an indictable offence. A fifth man was found not guilty.

Daniels was sentenced to life in prison with a minimum term of 14 years and 319 days, with Sanders given 19 years. Reynolds was jailed for 20 years, with a two-year extended licence, with Hill sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Senior Investigating Officer, Det Ch Insp Jason Richardson, of Lancashire Police, said: "The sentencing is the end of a long-running investigation into a savage and brutal robbery, which left a man with serious, life-changing injuries which he will never fully recover from.

"The damage caused to the victim's leg, in particular his ankle, was catastrophic and has required a number of operations. He was hospitalised for several weeks and still today, is suffering serious complications following the savage injuries that were inflicted on him by the offenders.

"The attackers, under the impression there was a large amount of money at the address, showed extreme levels of violence to try and get what they wanted – making off with guns, cash, watches and jewellery, which have not been recovered.

"It is clear these individuals are very dangerous and very violent offenders and I am pleased they have been handed significant sentences which reflect the gravity of their actions."

Youngsters are taking dance world by storm

TWO talented dancers from the Kelly Shirley School Of Dance in Burscough are taking the dance world by storm!

Taylor Tomaselli and Imogen Burton have recently been treading the boards at London's most prestigious theatre schools and auditioning to join their elite training programmes.

After a series of tough and challenging auditions alongside dancers from all over the country, both girls have won places at Urdang College and Performers College and will now join these iconic schools in September.

Urdang and Performers are responsible for producing countless West End stars and TV stars and so Taylor and Imogen are aiming to emulate this success.

Kelly Tobin, principal of the Kelly Shirley School Of Dance said: "Urdang and Performers only accept the best of the best and so for both of my girls to be able to follow their dreams and train here is just incredible.

"Having these kind of opportunities at only

Imogen and Taylor

10 and 12 years old is testimony to the talent, hard work and determination of the girls and also the world class training they receive on a weekly basis at our amazing school.

"I'm sure this is the start of big things for both Taylor and Imogen and I'm excited to see what the future holds."

Most people happy with GP practices during pandemic

Report by Henry James

Dr Amanda Doyle.

MOST people in West Lancashire are happy with their GP practice during the pandemic period according to the results of an annual survey.

Of the 1,945 West Lancashire residents who responded to the national GP Patient Survey, 82 per cent rated their overall experience of their GP surgery as at least 'good'.

Responses to the majority of questions within the survey, which was carried out during the Covid-19 pandemic, had improved since last year and were consistently above the national average.

Dr Amanda Doyle OBE, chief clinical officer for NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), said: "This is a huge vote of confidence after a very tough 18 months for GP practices and I'm delighted to see that people are generally happy with the service they have received."

"The Covid-19 pandemic has been a difficult time for us all and there has been a real pressure on GP practices, which have changed the way appointments are carried out in order to protect patients and staff."

"To see these results, which show more people were happy with experiences of making appointments and that they found it easy to get through on the phone, is really pleasing."

"Around 56% of respondents said they had a face-to-face appointment with their practice, while other people were able to be supported via video and telephone consultations."

"I would like to thank my colleagues in GP practice across West Lancashire for their hard work throughout this pandemic. With survey results like this, it is clear evidence that high quality services have continued to be provided to people across the borough during this difficult time."

Key findings of the survey included:

- 92 per cent said they found receptionists helpful.
- 68 per cent had a good experience of making an appointment.

• 81 per cent said their GP practice website was easy to use to look for information and access services.

• 69 per cent said it was very or easy to get through to someone at their GP surgery on the phone.

The GP Patient Survey reflects on people's experience of healthcare services provided by GP surgeries, including access to GPs, making appointments, the quality of care received from GPs and practice nurses, ease of use of online services and satisfaction of out-of-hours NHS services.

The survey is run independently by Ipsos Mori and sent to more than a million people at random across the UK. In West Lancashire, 38 per cent of the 5,147 surveys sent out were returned.

Battery-powered train success could pave way for Merseyrail expansion

Game changing technology could allow network to extend beyond Ormskirk and into Skelmersdale

Report by Henry James

SUCCESSFUL tests have taken place to use battery-power for the new Merseyrail trains which could allow the network to expand and include services from Ormskirk to more places such as Preston and Southport.

The game-changing technology could also allow the Merseyrail network to extend to Skelmersdale as well places like Rainhill in St Helens, Woodchurch on the Wirral and Widnes.

There would also be a potential for services from Ormskirk to Southport in future if the 'Burscough Curves' were restored.

It could also allow the new fleet to operate as far afield as Wrexham, Warrington and Runcorn.

The battery-powered trains are initially set to run on services to a planned new station at Headbolt Lane, Kirkby.

In the trials, one of the new class 777 Merseyrail trains was fitted with the battery technology and tested on the Northern line.

The batteries exceeded expectations with the trains travelling up to 20 miles per run without the need for re-charging.

One of the new trains at Sandhills station, and inset, how Merseyrail could expand.

The battery trains would remove the need for the third 'electric' rail, enabling the trains to travel beyond the existing network without major track investment.

The units passed all tests during four weeks of trials on the network.

The new trains are considerably greener, using up to 30% less energy than the existing fleet.

Tram-Train technology and trackless trams will also be looked at as potential means of extending the Merseyrail network into hard-to-reach places.

The technology could benefit areas such as Liverpool John Lennon Airport and Speke, Kirkby town centre, Southport town centre, Wirral Waters and the Knowledge Quarter.

Steve Rotherham, Metro Mayor of the Liverpool City Region said: "For people in some parts of our region, Liverpool can feel as far away as London."

"We know that our new publicly owned trains will revolutionise transport in our region but, after these battery trials, they're going to help take it to another level entirely and ensure no community will be left behind."

"Our region deserves what London has had for years: a transport system that is affordable, reliable and easy for people to get about."

Do you need a Family Law Solicitor?

As we come to terms with the after effects of the pandemic, many couples are re-evaluating their lives and realising that they want something different. Some have sadly found the emotional and financial stresses of repeated lockdowns to be the final straw for their relationships.

In these circumstances you may need specialist legal advice. Our family law solicitor, Alexandra Kenyon, has over 25 years of experience in family law work and has continued to assist clients with all their family law legal needs, such as divorce, financial matters and child related issues, throughout the pandemic and during the lockdowns.

The last year has taught us all to work more creatively – and we now not only offer face to face appointments in our offices, but video calls that can be conducted by TEAMS, ZOOM or Facetime.

We can be there to assist you with finding your way through into the next stage of your life.

Other local firms of solicitors may be looking to close their family law departments, but we are very much open. We can help new clients and those who may be part way through a matter but are now looking for new representation due to being told that their current solicitor is closing their family law department.

We have been established over 200 years and if you would like to arrange an initial consultation then please call our offices on

Police re-issue swim warning after removing youths from quarry site

By Henry James

POLICE have urged people to stay away from the dangerous East Quarry in Appley Bridge after they had to remove a large group of youths who were swimming at the location.

They also put a dispersal order in place at the venue from Saturday, July 17 at 10am until 11pm on Sunday, July 18. This gives the police extra powers to break up groups of two or more people, where they believe their behaviour is causing a nuisance.

Sgt Darren Carr from Lancashire Police said: "The number of people visiting the quarry to swim is increasing year on year and it's taking up a lot of resources and joint agency working to try and stop that and avoid any more fatalities."

"The quarry is private property and the safety factors far outweigh the fun factors. We'd urge people to stay away and keep themselves safe."

Police said the youths who were swimming in the quarry on July 17 were spoken to and removed from the area.

Beckie Ramsey who lost her son, Dylan, after he died swimming at Chorley's Hilltop Quarry, visited East Quarry on Thursday, July 15 to warn people of the dangers of quarries.

She said: "My son was 13 years old when he swam in a quarry like this. Sadly he did not make it home."

The cold water overcame his body and sent him into shock. He was only under water for three minutes.

Please understand the risks and dangers of coming to beautiful places like this. They might be beautiful but they are deadly."

This week crowds of youths have been visiting East Quarry by train and car from all over the North West. Maybrook, who own the site, already have a licence to start draining the quarry (initially for a 12 week period) which should remove around 70% of the water.

As soon as the access ramp is in place they can start draining.

An application for a new access ramp into the quarry, which is required for health and safety reasons is to be heard at Lancashire County Council today (July 21).

As the water level drops, the emergency services will require the new ramp in order to access the water in the event of an emergency.

RSPCA cattery boosted by £3,500 donation - from another charity!

THE Southport, Ormskirk and District branch of the RSPCA has been granted £3,500 to upgrade its cattery - by another charity!

Animal welfare charity Battersea Dogs and Cats Home's grant will allow the charity on New Cut Lane to upgrade its electricity supply.

Branch manager Paul Gibson said: "Battersea has awarded us £3,500 to upgrade our electricity supply to our cattery (shown, right) enabling the cats to keep warm in winter without blowing our main fuse!"

"The cattery was built in 2015, but the contractor, now in liquidation, had not installed a three-phase supply, leaving a situation where fuses would quite happily 'pop' if the heating was turned up too high during cold spells.

"It always required careful management during those times, but Battersea came to our rescue and the problem is now sorted, thankfully. It is really good to see a bigger charity help a smaller one out, at its time of need - so it's a great big Southport & Ormskirk thank you to our fellow welfare organisation in Battersea."

Battersea Grants is an initiative launched in 2019 that aims to support smaller rescues and shelters by offering grants of between £3,000 and £15,000. The money helps organisations continue their work with dogs and cats.

Man seriously injured after being struck by car

A MAN has been left with serious chest and leg injuries after being hit by a car.

Police were called at 10.30pm on Sunday, July 18 to reports of a collision involving a pedestrian and a Vauxhall Corsa in Grimshaw Road, Skelmersdale (shown, above).

The pedestrian, a man in his 20s, was taken to hospital. The driver was not hurt.

Anyone with information can call police on 101, quoting log 1838 of July 19, 2021.

Football club clinch sponsorship deal with national firm

Locally-based finance company 'happy to give something back to the community'

Report by Henry James

SKELMERSDALE United have clinched a shirt sponsorship deal with a national company.

Federal Management is a commercial debt collection agency, and since 2004 has had its head office based in Skelmersdale.

It was recently announced they have agreed to become a kit sponsor for the forthcoming 2021-2022 season.

In addition to the kit, Federal Management has also agreed to fund the purchase of a high-tech defibrillator.

Following recent events at the UEFA European Football Championships, the importance of equipment like this was highlighted.

During a match between Denmark and Finland, Danish midfielder Christian Eriksen suffered a cardiac arrest.

This new sponsorship deal began with immediate effect and will run throughout the 2021-22 season.

As part of the sponsorship, Federal Management's company logo will be featured prominently on the kit shorts.

Federal Management has previously agreed sponsorship deals with other football clubs, most recently for Championship team Preston North End.

Ross Hooton, marketing manager for Federal

The Skelmersdale United team.

Management said: "We are delighted to be able to support Skelmersdale United for the upcoming season."

"We have searched for opportunities with many football clubs across the UK, one of which was a Premiership club that wanted to partner with us."

"After some discussion, we recognised that grassroots football clubs have been those hit the hardest over the course of the Covid-19 pandemic."

"As our head office is located in Skelmersdale, we wanted to give something back to our local community and the town's local football club was the logical choice."

"Along with the kit sponsorship, we were eager to support the club in other ways, and were pleased to help the team purchase a defibrillator."

"The safety and importance of the team and all other members of the club is of paramount importance. Hopefully, the defibrillator is never actually needed, but it will serve a purpose for everybody's safety."

Seven people from West Lancs on drugs and weapons charges after county lines raids

Report by Henry James

DOZENS of people, including seven from West Lancashire, have been charged with a variety of drug and weapons-related offences, during four weeks of police enforcement targeting County Lines which also saw £420,000 in cash, assets and drugs seized.

Operation Stabilise targeted the suspected networks – where illegal drugs are transported from one area to another, usually by children or vulnerable people who are coerced into it by gangs – across Lincolnshire, Lancashire, and Nottinghamshire.

The 'County Line' is the mobile phone line used to take the orders of drugs.

The ten-month investigation, culminated with 38 search warrants executed.

The operation included PCs, intelligence officers and detectives, to armed response officers, and forensics units, and saw 10 separate drug conspiracy investigations conducted.

More than £300,000 in assets were seized including designer watches, clothing, electrical goods and cars, as well as more than £55,000 in cash, an estimated £53,000 of Class A crack and heroin, and around £12,000 of cannabis, and weapons including knives, a shotgun and two hand guns.

Chief Inspector Phil Baker of Lincolnshire Police said: "The sale and use of drugs blights entire neighbourhoods, and feeds into the much darker world of County Lines which entices young people into a life of crime through selling a lifestyle before loyalty is tested.

"This is often done by asking for favours and offering a sense of protection, which can then lead to those exploited being trapped through debt bondage, trafficking, isolation from family and friends and physical, psychological and sexual abuse.

"As well as exploiting vulnerable people, County Lines activity also feeds addiction at a local level, and the drug use itself is just the tip of the iceberg; with it comes a bevy of associated crime such as theft, antisocial behaviour, or violent offences.

"The leaders of organised crime gangs live lavish lifestyles, spending thousands on designer clothes, watches or gadgets, while the people they exploit to traffic drugs or those using them are often living lives so far removed from luxury.

"In short, drugs damage our communities and lives, and we will not tolerate County Lines networks in our area."

Countdown is on for Parbold 'becoming Vegas of the ukulele world'

Report by Henry James

PARBULELE 2021 will go ahead this year at the place that it has made its home - the village of Parbold.

From the welcome party on the evening of the July 30 to the farewell party on the evening of the August 1 the whole village comes alive to the sound of the Ukulele.

Performer Peter Moss has described Parbulele as when, "Parbold village becomes the Vegas of the ukulele world."

Every year Parbulele brings a new feature to its festival and this time it is the UK George Formby Society bringing more than 21 members to play over the weekend.

Using its unique canalside location, the Pirate Boat will return along with first timers the Hippie Boat and the Toastie Boat.

At the canalside, the main stage will be the 'Music Village.'

There will also be catering, a beer tent and all kinds of trade stands and a bouncy castle for the youngsters.

From 11am on Saturday through to 9pm, there will non stop entertainment from live bands playing the unique Ukulele style of music.

At the Women's Institute there will be workshops held to teach various aspects of playing the ukulele. There will also be lessons on singing and writing songs. These workshops are delivered by professional teachers at only £10 for an hours lesson.

Live bands will be playing all day on both days at a number of venues including: The Windmill; The Stocks and The Wayfarer. The official festival cafe is Coffee Etc.

Festival Organiser Gary Smith said: "This year we are proud to be official fundraisers for the NHS Charities Together, with 100% of the profits being donated to their charities."

"So, where else can you come and see more than 40 bands performing live, while having a great time all for FREE! Visit our web site www.parbulele.co.uk for all the details."

"We will be providing a safe environment following and in most cases exceeding the current guidelines. We will have sanitiser stations track and trace facilities to register everyone, with our own unique wrist band control system.

"The workshops will be limited to 25% of the WI capacity and the evening concert, normally held in the village hall, will be outside on the Main Stage, keeping everyone in the open air and in the summer sun.

Special thanks must go to the Parish Council and West Lancashire Borough Council for assisting us in putting on this festival.

"No doubt Mr and Mrs Parbulele will be appearing in their Model T Ford, and driving around the village."

"So after the last 18 months what we need is happiness and laughter, meeting old friends and making new ones in a safe and secure environment."

FAMILY

Families can discover the wonder of wetlands this summer, with an adventure-packed day out at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre. Enjoy splashing, dipping, playing, feeding, paddling and getting up-close-and-personal hand feeding some of nature's most wonderful wildlife. But first, we need your HELP! We have lost some of our ducks and we need your help to find them. 25 giant ducks have been hidden around our wetlands and we need you to find them all and identify their names in order to win a tasty treat in our GIANT Summer Duck Hunt.

Centre Manager, Nick Brooks said: "This summer is going to be a perfect time to get outdoors with your family, have some fresh air, connect with nature and have a great day out. It is great to be able to offer events such as the duck hunt and activities like the otter talk and feeds again and we know that they are a firm favourite with our visitors."

There are lots of activities for the whole family to enjoy, including having a go at pond dipping, taking to the water on the canoe safari, hand feeding our amazing wetland birds, watch our cheeky family of otters during their feeds, going on a wild walk adventure and take on the balance beam trail, stepping stones, den building and zip wire in our adventure playground.

After such a hard day of playing and exploring, you can relax with an ice-cream or hot drink from our Mere Side Café or kiosks, relax in the craft room whilst the kids get creative or enjoy browsing our retail shop for a souvenir.

Book your ticket online today at www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere and let your summer wetland adventure begin!

School 'Eco Committee' hosts special guests

By Henry James

WEST End primary school Environment Committee in Ormskirk have had some special guests.

Ormskirk County Councillor Nikki Hennessey and West Lancashire Borough Councillor Ann Fennell paid a visit to the school on Friday, June 25.

They met the Schools 'Eco Committee' made up of Ezra Fallaize (Y6), Charlie Nixon (Y6), Bonnie Mahood (Y4) and Leo Harpin (Y3).

The Eco-committee are completing an environmental review of the school and the outdoor space as part of the process in becoming an 'Eco-School'.

Like many schools, staff and pupils care deeply about environmental issues and have a strong desire to actively protect the planet.

The pupils told the councillors about changes that they are putting in place to help the environment and that they wanted their support to help with their outdoor space and biodiversity.

Some of the activities the children have been undertaking include:

- They have put signs up on light switches, computers, and whiteboards to ensure they are switched off.

- They have had all the items of School uniform no longer required, freshly laundered and are given away so that they can be re-used.

- Use reusable milk beakers instead of wasting milk packaging.

- Recycle cartons.

- Promoted walking to school along with road safety.

Councillor Nikki Hennessey said: "I was really

Cllr Nikki Hennessey, Cllr Anne Fennell with a teacher and children from West End School

impressed with the Eco-committee's knowledge and willingness to put changes in place to reduce their emissions.

"I am going to be contacting LCC officers to see if we can be of any help or support for West End School."

Councillor Anne Fennell was equally impressed and offered to ask if WLBC Rangers have any expertise they can help with the process.

The councillors were then asked to join the whole school 'virtually' and read out the weekly awards at the Celebration Assembly.

West End celebrate their 'Superstars' who have been chosen by the school staff for a variety of reasons, such as being kind and helpful or for trying really hard at something.

Councillor Hennessey remarked: "It is always a pleasure visiting West End School, the pupils are so welcoming and friendly."

"Hearing how hard the children have worked and how good they behave towards each other makes me feel very proud. I look forward to another visit."

Summer at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre

With lockdown ending and the holidays about to start, the Martin Mere team has been busy keeping the site safe and preparing all the wetland activities for the summer. With the weather being forecasted to improve, it's a great time to turn yourself into a Wetland Explorer and discover all the fascinating creatures that make Martin Mere their home. Plus, for the younger ones, there will be another set of bright yellow birds waiting to be found on our Giant Plastic Duck Hunt.

Throughout the summer, the nature reserve is a great place to spot a variety of birds, dragonflies and butterflies. Highlights at this time of year are great sightings of Marsh Harrier, Little Egret and Kingfisher. Recently, there has been a family of Kingfishers seen from the Ronnie Barker Hide. The Discovery Hide is also a great place to get up close to the Black-headed Gull colony and you may get great views of Avocets.

However, you can also get close to wildlife in the Martin Mere grounds. A ride in a canoe, or on a boat tour, can also deliver a Kingfisher and there's always the possibility of a Water Vole. Even more aquatic creatures can be found while pond dipping in the Pond Zone, including some very exciting Smooth Newts.

The more natural area of the grounds at Wild Walk offers great opportunities to look for insects around our massive, record-breaking, bug hotel. You can also balance on the sweet-track beam as you meander through the reeds, surrounded by the constant chatter of reed and sedge warblers.

Of course, our captive birds provide some great viewing in the summer and it's always a fantastic experience to be able to feed them. If you are lucky and stay still, even the flamingos may eat from your hand, while the Hawaiian Geese will be fighting to get to your bags of grain.

Finally, during a actioned packed day, don't forget to find all those giant yellow ducks on the Duck Hunt. There's only 25 ducks to find but you'll also have great fun discovering the thousands of other wetland animals that call Martin Mere home and make our Wetland Centre one of the best nature attractions in the country.

Please do book your tickets in advance by visiting www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere

Remember when Ford claimed Capri Injection would be fast as lightning?

How the BMW M3 sounds is a big part of its appeal

with

www.lifeoncars.co.uk

REMEMBER when Ford proudly boasted that its Capri Injection would go like lightning? You wouldn't get away with it today – but then even the sound of a revving engine, as BMW's just discovered, will get you rapped on the knuckles.

I was astonished to learn the other day that the Advertising Standards Authority has censured Munich's best-known carmaker for using just that in a radio ad for its M3 and M4 Competition. The gist of it was that while BMW could use lots of colourful words to describe what its latest performance saloon and its M4 coupé cousin were like, what most enthusiasts really wanted to hear was its 510bhp, twin-turbo straight six. So it duly obliged, ending the ad with a split-second snippet of it revving.

Such a hedonistic helping of high-performance misbehaviour prompted a torrent of complaints to the ASA's gatekeepers, right? Erm, no. Some ads rack up hundreds of angry emails but the judgement against BMW's was upheld on the basis of one complainant, who felt that the sound of a revving engine glamourised speed and performance. I'll say that again. One. I can just picture the diesel Land Rover Discovery parked outside his or her house, presumably with a copy of the Daily Mail on the passenger seat.

The sound of the engine was recorded while the car was static and even the ASA noted that it didn't indicate that the car was being driven at any sort of speed or that it was accelerating – and at no other point in the ad did the bloke from BMW mention anything to do with its performance, even though the M3 can get to 60mph in 3.9 seconds and crack 180mph if the optional M Pro package – which removes the electronic gizmos limiting its top speed to a mere 155mph – is ticked on the options list.

Nope, what BMW wanted to point out is that it puts a lot of effort into making the engines for its M cars sound good – so much so that it now works with professional composers to get the acoustics bang on.

BMW can now only run the ad again if the engine sound is made 'in the context of safety' – but I can bet that anyone who makes enough money to afford the M3 Competition's £74,755 asking price is clever enough to a) know what a track day is, and b) realise that the Highway Code applies equally to everyone, whether they're in a 15-year-old Focus or a McLaren Senna.

I've heard countless engines being revved and not once have I taken it as some subliminal suggestion that I need to top the ton on the Tarleton bypass – and frankly, if you do, you're a moron who doesn't deserve to be behind the wheel of a high performance motor. It's not what you drive that counts. It's how you drive it.

I bet the vast majority of you – whether you think BMW's M3 is an engineering masterpiece or a £75k waste of time that'll spend 99 per cent of its life going no faster than seventy – would agree.

David Simister is the editor of Classic Car Weekly.
